JUST as everything gave way yesterday to the burial of the Unknown Soldier, so everything gave way today to the formal opening of the Armaments Conference—an event equally solemn in its way. Harding accompanied the President to Memorial Continental Hall for the ceremonies, and had in her box the Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge, the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Gillett, and Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft.

Mrs. Hughes, in the double capacity of ranking Cabinet hostess and as wife of the spokesman of the American delegation, was the center of much interest. Mrs. Oscar Underwood, Mrs. Elihu Root, Senator Lodge's daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Cabot Lodge, who seems destined to fill the role of hostess for him during the season, all were present in the gallery, with such distinguished foreign women as Lady Geddes—her husband functioning now as one of the British delegates as well as British ambassador—Lady Lee of Fareham, Lady Borden, Mme. Sze, Mme. Koo, Lady Beatty, and Lady Chatfield.

The Diplomatic Corps was numerously present, and one noted the presence of the cabinet circle—Mrs. Weeks and Mrs. Denby and the rest, and pretty Miss Alisa Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, who took her place by her father's side for the ceremonies at Arlington yesterday and the opening of the conference today. It was largely an official assemblage, of course, for space was limited and the unofficial world was represented only by a few privileged persons.

Tonight the President and Mrs. Harding will entertain the delegates to the conference at dinner, with a reception afterward, at which the other members of the various foreign missions and the American officials who will be actively associated with the conference will have their first opportunity to meet each other socially.

Members of the Cabinet and their wives will be the distinguished company, asked to dine with the delegates and their ladies. And presumably the ambassadors or ministers of the nations represented at the party will be present. The reception, although exceedingly brilliant, will be comparatively small, the guests being confined strictly to the conference delegations—using the word in its larger sense—members of the diplomatic corps and a group of American officials.

There was some talk at one time of Secretary Hughes giving a luncheon today for some of the delegates, but eventually Wednesday was selected instead—doubtless for fear that the ceremonies connected with the opening of the conference might be drawn out until too close to the luncheon hour.

Going to Philadelphia.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge on Monday will go to Philadelphia, where the Vice President will address the forum in the Academy of Music, organized by Edward Bok. They will spend the night with the Governor of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprout at Chester, Pa.

Brigid Entertainers.

The premier of France, M. Briand, entertained the French delegation to the arms conference at luncheon yesterday at the Willard, following the ceremonies at Arlington. Marshal Koch paid a call upon the premier during the afternoon and joined him at the luncheon table where he remained an hour before leaving for New Haven.

Premier Briand also entertained a company of six at dinner last evening in the cabinet room at the Willard.

M. Cartheron, secretary of the French delegation to the conference on limitation of armament, entertained twenty at dinner last evening in the diplomatic room at the Willard.

Mrs. James McDonald will entertain at dinner this evening in honor of the Chilean Ambassador and Mme. Mathieu. Covers will be laid for twenty-eight guests, which will include the minister of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes and Mme. Grouitch, and their guests Mr. and Mrs. George Mathews of Buffalo, and Lady Henry of London, a guest of the hostess. Mrs. McDonald has recently returned from a visit to New York.

Sir Harold Stiles of Edinburgh, Scotland, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Tom Williams, has left Washington, and will sail for New York on board the Aquitania, after visiting Boston and New York.

Mrs. Wade Ellis was hostess today at a luncheon of twelve guests, Mrs. William S. Knapp, Mrs. Harry Woodard, Mrs. Eugene Pomeroy, Mrs. Charles Gray Matthews, Mrs. John Walker Holcombe, Mrs. William Taylor, widow of Senator Taylor of Tennessee, Mrs. Charles McKenny, Mrs. William F. Ham-

Mrs. Anna Perkins Stewart and Miss Lacey.

Mrs. Ellis will entertain at dinner Friday evening.

Mrs. Homer Hoch has returned from the West where she has been for some time, and has taken the house, 1843 Monroe street.

Paul de Hevey, Hungarian counselor of legation, will entertain at dinner tonight at Wardman Park Hotel in honor of Count and Countess Szechenyi. Covers will be laid for fifteen.

Entertainers at Luncheon.

Mrs. Theodore V. Boynton entertained at luncheon today in honor of Mrs. Thomas Barber, of Southampton, who is staying at the Lafayette Hotel. Covers were laid for twelve.

Mrs. Boynton recently has been decorated by the French government with the "Medaille de Reconnaissance."

Tickets for the ball and pageant to be given by the National Woman's Foundation on November 18 can be purchased from Miss Katherine Judge at 1785 Massachusetts avenue; Mrs. E. Bayard Halsted, at Wardman Park Hotel, at the Woman's Foundation headquarters, at the Shoreham Hotel and other hotels.

Senor de Cardenas, counselor of the Spanish embassy, will entertain at dinner tonight for Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Roosevelt, of New York, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Jordan.

A number of luncheon parties were given yesterday at the Shoreham by persons who had attended the ceremonies at Arlington. Henry Morganthau, formerly American ambassador to Turkey, had six guests with him. Lord Sandwich was a guest of Colonel Lindsay, who also entertained Mrs. Poe White and Miss Sturges. Col. H. H. Lehman had a party of seven and Commander and Mrs. Edward R. Eberle entertained a party of eight.

The minister of Rumania, Prince Bibesco, has gone to New York to meet Princess Bibesco, who will arrive there aboard the Aquitania, which is expected to dock at 3 o'clock. The minister and Princess Bibesco will remain in New York over the weekend and will be accompanied to Washington Monday by Miss Nan Tennant, cousin of Princess Bibesco and a sister of Mr. Hugh V. Tennant, attaché of the British embassy.

Armistice Day Guests.

Mrs. William Rivers, wife of the commandant of Fort Myer, invited a number of friends to her porch yesterday morning to view the Armistice Day parade. After the procession had passed, the company gathered indoors for coffee and chocolate. At the table centered with a silver vase of long-stemmed American Beauty roses, were Mrs. William Kearney Carr, presiding over the chocolate pot, and Mrs. Minnegrove Andrews pouring coffee. Mrs. Eliphabet Frazer Andrews assisted.

Among the guests were Mrs. George Barnett, Miss Anne Gordon, Mrs. Raisin, of Baltimore; Mrs. George D. Hope, Mrs. Charles G. Mathews, Mrs. S. H. Peck, Mrs. Julian James, Mrs. C. C. Tucker, Dr. and Mrs. Davenport White, Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Hillis, Mrs. Alexander Sharp, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Sharp, Jr., Miss Ethel Chase, and Mrs. Victor Kauffmann.

Mrs. Archibald Gracie will be at home tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6:30 o'clock in compliance to Mrs. Wesley-Watson, of England, who is her guest for the week. Mrs. Gracie will be receiving at the tea table will be Mme. Grouitch, wife of the minister of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, and Mrs. Henry Clay Bradley. Mrs. Bradley also is the house guest of Mrs. Gracie for a few days. Col. Charles Hann, Jr., appointed by the governor of New York to represent that State at the Armistice Day ceremonies, also has been Mrs. Gracie's guest over the holiday.

Mrs. Eugene Villaret, wife of Major Villaret, Assistant Military Attaché of the American Embassy in Paris, who has been in Washington for several months visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Harvey, passed several days at the Hotel Astor in New York before sailing to join her husband in France. Mrs. Villaret, who was a Washington debutante two years ago, was accompanied to New York by her mother who remained to see her sail on the Cantigny. A granddaughter of Judge William S. Holman, Mrs. Villaret, who was Mrs. Abner Holman, married the grandson of Admiral Villaret de Joyeuse, who served under Napoleon.

Dr. Edgar Snowden will leave Washington Monday for Wadesboro, N. C., where he will be married on Wednesday to Miss Julia Bennett Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Burns, of that city. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride.

The program that followed, in the candlelit music room and library was one of the most interesting of the season. Mr. Bajpai gave a delightful talk on India, touching upon the religions of the different sections of the country.
